

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

PERFECT WORKS

THOMAS: Enough about this imperfect salvation. You mentioned the perfect works salvation before. Explain it to me.

DANIEL: No, I don't want to. That's not for the man in the grave.

THOMAS: Why not, Daniel? Are you going to shortchange me?

DANIEL: I believe the man in the grave represents a Gentile, since you presented the probability that he was a prominent Christian.

THOMAS: We are here in Jerusalem. That makes it a distinct possibility that he could be an Israelite.

DANIEL: True. You have a good point, Thomas, but I'm only dispensing information to you on a need to know basis. You are not Jewish.

THOMAS: I remember you told me it was a 25 tenet doctrine of the Gospel of the Kingdom of God that Jesus described with 25 statements of truly, truly. Is this worthless information?

DANIEL: It's not worthless. Maybe there is a purpose for me to explain this to you.

THOMAS: What purpose, Daniel?

DANIEL: Perhaps you might see the work that Jesus Christ did to make the Perfect Salvation of grace available to you. Perhaps you might gain appreciation for this amazing gift from God.
